INSURE YOUR LIFE.

UNDISPUTED FACTS.

IS IT AN obligation on the part of a husband and father to provide a date for his wife and children after his life. Then it is equally an obligation on his part to provide means for their adequate support in event of his death. The latter is so obvious, the means of performance so easily secured, and are so easily placed within the reach of all men—the arrangement is so eminently practical, natural, benevolent, and just—it is, moreover, so self-evidently a dictate of sound & prudent, manly sense of self-respect, and to encourage him in the performance of all proper social duties—that we cannot conceive of any possible objection that can be urged against it.

TUESDAY, JUNE 11, 1895.

The European delegates to the joint commission appointed to investigate the circumstances of the late atrocities in Armenia have refused to continue to act in conjunction with the Turkish members of the commission, owing to the open bribery and intimidation of witnesses on the part of the Turkish delegates.

Much irritation has been displayed in Germany at the action of Russia in placing in Paris the Chinese loan of £16,000,000. The action of Russia is regarded as being disloyal to Germany.

It is alleged that patients in the Roman Catholic Asylum at Aix-la-Chapelle, in Prussia, have been bound and submerged head downwards in icy water until they were partially drowned, when they were revived and again subjected to the same cruel treatment.

Of the shipment of 73 head of cattle despatched by the steamer Port Victor, which left Sydney for London on the 13th April, 17 perished on the voyage, including five animals which were specially dieted. The remaining 56 head of cattle are in good condition.

At the Paris Summer Race Meeting the Grand Prize of Paris was won by M. Edmond Blanc's Andrée, Vicomte d'Harecourt's Clerbourg being second, and Baron A. de Schickler's Le Sagittaire third.

It is estimated that the Victorian Income Tax Department has received £140,000. About 3000 appeals have been lodged.

The Australian Chilling and Freezing Company at Aberdeen began the work of killing cattle for export yesterday. One hundred head of cattle can be dealt with every day.

Arrangements have been made for the shipment of about 20,000 carcases of mutton from Newcastle by the steamer Warrigal, to be followed by the steamer St. Urmiston Grangle with a similar lot in July.

The revenue returns for the past week show a decrease of £11,072 as compared with the same period last year, the total receipts for the week ending the 8th June, 1895, having been £154,408, as against £165,480 received from the 2nd to the 8th June, 1894.

It is understood that the Crown Solicitor has been instructed to defend the action for damages which Captain Close is about to institute against Major-General Hutton in relation to the recent military court-martial.

The estate of the late Samuel Taylor, of Sydney, has been sworn at £21,505.

In the Assembly this afternoon Mr. Griffith proposes to move the adjournment, to discuss a difference which has arisen between himself and the Minister for Works. Mr. Crick's motion to dissent from the ruling of Mr. Speaker in reference to the closure comes on next.

The second readings of the Customs Duties Bill, the Land Tax Bill, and the Income Tax Bill are set down for this afternoon. In the Legislative Council to-morrow, the Land and Income Tax Assessment Bill will come on for its second reading.

At the sitting of the Dean Commission yesterday Dr. Rennie, Government Pathologist, was examined. Mrs. Dean was also called and questioned at length, and her examination had not concluded when the commission adjourned.

The first examinations in connection with the Trinity College, London, were carried out last Saturday morning in the South Superior Public School, Parramatta. There were 54 candidates.

Mr. Van de Velde, sugar expert, delivered a lecture at Tenterfield on Saturday in connection with beet-cultivation experiments. He said the result of the experiments had exceeded expectations, but it was necessary to make a more extended trial.

The steamer Tomki grounded on entering the Richmond River on Sunday night. It was expected that she would be floated off last night.

At the quarterly meeting of the City Council, held yesterday, the Mayor submitted a report in reference to the proposed retrenchments in the ranks of the council's servants. The reductions and arrangements will result in an annual saving of £4447 4s.

Amongst the visitors present at the Mayoral quarterly luncheon given yesterday were Mr. A. J. Clark (Attorney-General of Tasmania), the Rev. Prior Vaughan, and the Rev. Haskett Smith. Mr. Clark, in reply to the toast of the visitors, spoke of the federation of the Australasian colonies.

The Premier, speaking at Orange last night, said that Sir George Dibbs and Sir Henry Parkes saw that the Government was getting stronger and stronger every day, and they saw their only chance was by combining their forces. The moment they joined they paid him a magnificent compliment; they intended to ruin him politically, but in reality they placed him on a pedestal.

Speaking of the proposals of the Government, Mr. Reid said that nothing was more sure than that the Customs duties would come off. He believed the members of the Legislative Council would act in a thoroughly constitutional manner and pass the Customs Bill. There never should be a time in this colony while he occupied his present position when the rights of the people for the taxation of the people would be surrendered to the Legislative Council.

He did not desire to say anything of a threatening nature about the Council; but he felt that things were in a very serious crisis in the history of the country. The two Chambers had not been working very well of late. Several measures which had been unquestionably called for by the people had met with an ignominious and untimely end.

The Great Northern Steeplechase was run at Auckland yesterday, and was won by Liberator, with Fishmonger second and Norton third.

The Premier cabled to the Agent-General to-day as follows:—"Impress upon the Imperial Government the importance of the Pacific cable, and urge an early meeting of a joint commission of representatives of the Imperial Government and Australasian colonies and Canada to arrange a plan, subject to the approval of the Governments interested, as stated by Mr. Sandford Fleming in his letter of the 5th January to the Minister for Trade and Commerce, Canada. Secure all information as to the construction and laying of the cable, and endeavour to secure the co-operation of the other Agents-General."

THE INCOME TAX.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Up to noon on Saturday the Income Tax Department had received about £95,000. To-day was the last day appointed to receive payments, and the officials were kept busily engaged. It is estimated that when the office closed this afternoon about £140,000 had been paid in. All letters containing payments posted to the Income Tax Department to-day will be regarded as received. It is believed that a very large number of such letters will be delivered to-morrow. Thus the amount received will be appreciably increased. Should any income tax remain unpaid 21 days after 10th instant the defaulters will be charged interest on their assessments at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum. About 3000 appeals have been lodged.

AN AWKWARD PREDICAMENT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The captain of the ship Hillaria, which arrived on Saturday from New York laden with kerosene, has been placed in an awkward dilemma through a case of detonators having been included in the cargo without his knowledge. The shipping agent presented the invoice at the Custom-house to-day for explosives, whereupon the vessel was immediately ordered into the outer anchorage. When Captain Allen heard that he was supposed to have explosives aboard he was inclined to ridicule the suggestion, as there was no mention of them in his bill of lading. A preliminary search for the box of detonators was made to-day without success. In face of the positive evidence supplied by the shipping agent's invoice, the Customs authorities have no option under the port regulations but to keep the vessel in the outer anchorage until the box of detonators is found. It may, therefore, be necessary to have the cargo removed by lighters, which will involve the ship's owners in considerable expense.

ALFRED SHAW AND CO., LIMITED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The directors of Alfred Shaw and Co., Limited, hardware merchants, applied to Mr. Justice a'Beckett to-day for the sanction of the Supreme Court to be given to the scheme of compromise between the company and its creditors. Mr. Higgins, who appeared for the company, said that the scheme had been submitted to meetings of creditors at Melbourne, London, and Brisbane, and adopted without a single dissentient. The principal provisions of the scheme were that the creditors should receive the sum of 12s 6d in the £, payable in 10 half-yearly instalments of 15d in the £, and every creditor whose debt did not exceed £100 should be entitled to claim and receive within three months of the sanction of the scheme the sum of 9s in the £. The application was granted.

FACILITIES TO MINERS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In accordance with the policy recently introduced by the Mines Department the surface areas of leases worked at the South Wattle Gully and the Southern Cross Companies' leases at Castlemaine, comprising an area of 80 acres, are to be thrown open to miners. These leases have hitherto been worked as deep mines, and a suspension of labour covenants having been applied for it was granted on condition that the leases allowed the surface to be worked. Miners are to be permitted to mine to a depth of 100ft., and have to pay the nominal royalty of 1 per cent. on all the gold obtained.

CENTRAL BROKEN HILL MINE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders in the Central Broken Hill Silver-mining Company was held to-day in order to confirm the resolution passed at the meeting on the 22nd May in favour of the sale of the mine. Mr. H. Dodds occupied the chair, and said it was his intention to move the adjournment of the meeting. The discovery of kaolin ore had led to fresh negotiations with the intending purchasers, who, admitting that their offer was based on a calculation as to sulphide ores only, at once agreed that any advantage arising from the discovery of kaolin should belong to the company. Under these circumstances the directors still advised the acceptance of the offer to purchase the property. A long and heated discussion ensued, and finally the chairman's motion that the meeting stand adjourned to the 20th June was carried.

THE MEAT EXPORT TRADE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ABERDEEN, Monday.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN GOLDFIELDS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CUE, Monday.

The purchase money of the Normanby North Cue mines was paid over to the original prospectors in Richmond during the past day or two. Another lot of very rich stone taken from the reef shows gold freely throughout. The reef trends towards the St. Kilda, formerly known as the Koh-i-noor lease. It is believed that it runs right into that property, and that the stone is richer than anything yet taken out. Almost within reach of knocking-off time last night every piece broken off the reef showed coarse gold. The machinery for the Lady Mary Amalgamated mines, manufactured by the Austral Otis Company, is arriving on the ground. A nice parcel of alluvial gold has come from the Horseshoe district. It is of excellent quality. One piece weighed 32oz. Negotiations are being opened by the directors of the big mine at Day Dawn, owned by the English company, to add 30 head of stampers to the present crushing plant, making 50 head in all. Substantial winding and pumping machinery is to be added, and the total cost is estimated at close upon £25,000. The British Western Australian Gold-crushing Syndicate has been guaranteed six months' work by the English company for five head of stamps. Excellent progress is being made with the opening up of wells along the route to the lake district. Splendid water has been struck in No. 3 well on the Carey-road, also at Black Ranges.

SOUTHERN CROSS, Monday.

The Director of Public Works interviewed the Mayor and councillors and a number of citizens on Saturday night. He said that the reports in regard to the question of the deviation in the track to Menzies were entirely unfounded. The Government was doing everything possible to develop the water supply on the track from Southern Cross to Menzies. The Government bore had struck water at Duladgin. He promised reductions in the freight and fares on the Yilgarn line from the beginning of the coming financial year. Mr. Venn also stated that the Government had authorised the cutting of a new direct road from Southern Cross to Mount Jackson. He promised the provision of cars on the Yilgarn line and cool cars for the conveyance of perishable produce. The necessity for the duplication of the telegraph line from Perth through Southern Cross to Coolgardie was brought under his notice. Mr. Venn promised to bring the subject before his colleagues.

GROUNDING OF THE TOMKI.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

BALLINA, Monday.

The steamer Tomki, after crossing in from Sydney last evening, grounded on what is known as the crossing inside the entrance to the Richmond River. With the aid of lighters it is expected that she will float off to-night. The channel where she lies is tortuous and very shallow.

COUNTRY NEWS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS.)

A HIGHWAY ASSAULT.

YASS, Monday.

On Saturday evening last, as Mr. D. Tierney, secretary to the Yass Wool-scouring Company, was proceeding home from town, one of the employees followed him and came up with him near the gasworks. He kept with him until reaching a briar paddock on the bank of the river. Mr. Tierney here missed the man, and on looking round to see where he had gone received a violent blow on the head, knocking him insensible. Some time after the wife of another employee noticed Mr. Tierney wandering towards the river, and, as he seemed not to notice where he was going, she went up to him and took him home. His face was terribly cut about, being almost unrecognisable. The police were communicated with, and the man was arrested. He was brought up at the police court this morning, and remanded for eight days, as Mr. Tierney is too ill to appear, the doctor fearing erysipelas.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

ST. MARYS, Monday.

The milk suppliers are complaining much at the low prices received from the city companies, it being impossible to hand-feed except at great loss. One supplier has discontinued sending his milk, and others say they must do the same. A meeting is to be called shortly to form a Dairymen's Association.

THE GRAIN DUTIES.

COOTAMUNDRA, Monday.

A public meeting was held on Saturday night, under the auspices of the Farmers' Union, of all persons opposed to the repeal of the duties on agricultural products. About 100 people were present, chiefly farmers. Mr. J. J. Miller was in the chair. Mr. Stratton moved,—"That we view with alarm and regret the action of the Government in repealing the duties, and believe it to be detrimental to the interests of agriculturists and people generally, that it will have the effect of crushing industries, making thousands of unemployed, depression, and distress, and that it will retard the development of the colony, by preventing the employment of capital." This was seconded by Mr. P. M'Guire and supported by Mr. Barnes, M.L.A., who urged that the Opposition would be backed by resolutions in the country and would resist every item. It would have resisted last week but for the closure. Though urged to petition for a modification, he regarded it as useless to ask the free-trade Government to sanction protection. He moved an amendment, but on its not meeting with approval it was withdrawn. Mr. W. H. Conkey, a free-trader, criticised the speeches, but was met with a running fire of angry interruptions. Messrs. T. Mangan and T. Williams supported the resolution, which was carried unanimously, the free-traders not voting. On the motion of Mr. E. Doidge, J.P., it was resolved to petition Parliament against the policy of the Government. Free-traders think it is unnecessary to hold counter meetings.

JUNEE, Monday.

Two large enthusiastic meetings on the fiscal question were held on Saturday night. The secretary of the Farmers' Union convened a public meeting for the Assembly Hall to protest against any change in the fiscal policy of the country. Members of the union repudiated his action, stating that the meeting should have been confined to themselves. Consequently they met in an hotel, while the public meeting proceeded in the hall under the presidency of the Mayor, Mr. Sweetland. At the latter gathering a resolution was unanimously carried to the effect that protection had failed to benefit the farmers or find work for the unemployed, and favouring a tax on unimproved land values. Meanwhile the farmers' meeting, Mr. Patrick Heffernan, of Clear Hills, presiding, passed unanimously a resolution condemning the policy of the Government in removing the grain duties, and a petition was adopted to Parliament praying for the retention of the duties.

DEATH OF MR. A. STANGER LEATHES.

A movement is on foot for the readjustment of the boundaries of the Wollongong and Bulli Church of England parishes, so as to permit of the transfer of the Bellambi district to the latter.

SOUTHERN COAL TRADE.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CLIFTON, Monday.

The southern coal trade generally, which has been somewhat depressed during the last six weeks, shows no sign of improvement. The average working time, including all collieries from Helensburgh to Mount Kembla, will not exceed five days per pay. People are looking forward with much interest for the report of recent surveys made at Port Bellambi and Port Kembla, in the hope of either of those sites being recommended in preference to Wollongong for harbour improvements for this district. A compromise has been effected regarding the dispute at the Metropolitan mine, the miners having agreed to accept 1d per ton reduction in the hewing rate of large coal, which is equal to 4 per cent., and has brought the rate down to 2s per ton, including the usual allowance for being compelled to use safety lamps. District rates are to be paid for filling small coal, which means a substantial reduction, equal to about 15 per cent. A reduction in yardage and other rates is also agreed to. The question of reducing the wages of the men was not settled. The wheelers, therefore, refused to work this morning at reduced rates, and this has consequently thrown the mine idle. It is expected, however, that a settlement with them and other day men will be effected in the course of a few days. It is now feared, owing to these general reductions made at the Metropolitan mine, other collieries throughout the district will follow with similar reductions.

THE CAMPERDOWN TRAGEDY.

DEATH OF THE ASSAILANT.

Early yesterday morning Ezra Abrahams, who on the 8th instant shot himself after shooting at and wounding Miss Goodacre, in Thomas-street, Camperdown, died in the Prince Alfred Hospital. During the afternoon an inquest was held on the body of Abrahams, and a verdict of suicide was returned. Miss Goodacre was operated on during the day. The bullet in her left arm, which was causing the most pain, was extracted, and it was found that the bone of the arm had been splintered. No attempt was made to obtain the other two bullets. Miss Goodacre is now on a fair way to recovery.

THE INQUEST ON ABRAHAMS.

The City Coroner, Mr. J. C. Woore, held an inquest at the Prince Alfred Hospital yesterday on the body of Ezra Abrahams.

Aaron Abrahams, a confectioner, residing at No. 83 Goulburn-street, identified the body as that of his brother, who was 30 years of age, a confectioner by occupation, residing with his wife and family in University-street, Camperdown. Witness saw deceased at the hospital on Sunday and asked, "How do you feel?" Deceased replied, "Bad," and motioned him not to speak.

Dr. Murray, one of the resident medical officers of the Prince Alfred Hospital, deposed that deceased was brought to the hospital at 2.15 p.m. on Saturday by Senior-constable Curry and others. He was admitted, and was then quite conscious. Witness found two punctured wounds like bullet-wounds in the abdomen. They might easily have been caused by the revolver produced. At the time of Abrahams's admission nothing could be done. He improved during the night, and on Sunday morning it was decided that the course of the bullets should be traced. Witness was of opinion that the one which had entered on the right side had punctured the liver. An incision was made over the liver, but the bullet could not be found. The wound was bleeding very freely, and an effort was made to stop the hemorrhage. It was found that the second bullet, which had entered just below the navel, had entered the great intestine, had perforated the great intestine, and was lying free in the posterior abdominal wall. This bullet was obtained. After the operation deceased gradually sank, and died at 4 o'clock that (Monday) morning.

Sydney Herbert Sparks, a lad of 15 years, residing with his parents in Church-street, deposed that about 2 p.m. on Saturday, while standing on the fence of the house-yard, he saw Abrahams on one side of the street and Miss Goodacre on the other. Abrahams crossed over to where the young woman was walking, and they engaged in conversation. Witness did not hear what was said, but they did not appear to be quarrelling. The man turned round and looked towards witness, who then left the fence. He had hardly done so when he heard the report of firearms, and, mounting the fence again, saw Miss Goodacre fall. As she fell Abrahams fired two shots at himself and fell alongside of her. He ran to the two people, and heard the girl say, "Mother, mother." A Mr. Thomas then came up, and a crowd quickly gathered.

Senior-constable Curry deposed that he met Miss Goodacre and Abrahams on their way to the hospital. He asked deceased why he had shot the girl, and he replied, "She is my love; she is my love. I shot her and then shot myself because she betrayed me."

A jury man wished the inquest to be adjourned so that Miss Goodacre might be called, in order to see whether the man had received any provocation. The majority of the jury dissented from his view, and he did not persist in his request.

A verdict of suicide by shooting was returned.

THE WEATHER.

YESTERDAY'S WESTERLY GALE.

SOME FIERCE SQUALLS.

HOW A MAIL STEAMER FARED.

SCENE IN THE HARBOUR.

REPORTS FROM THE COUNTRY.

WRECK OF A COASTING VESSEL.

"Yes, we have had much heavier squalls than we had yesterday," said the Government Astronomer last night. "For instance, the heaviest gusts of yesterday's westerly gale reached, at 27 minutes past 2 in the afternoon, 61 miles per hour, but we have had them up to 80 miles. This happened at 5 minutes to 11 on the 19th November, 1893; and though on that occasion it was not such a big gale all through as that of yesterday, some of the squalls were fiercer. What made yesterday's storm feel so severe was its persistency—its blowing four hours at 40 miles per hour with gusts of 50, 53, and 58. That is a most unusual gale in this part of the world. It first came on about 1 a.m., with rain, and then oscillated a good deal, increasing at 9 a.m. to 33 miles per hour. At 11 a.m. the anemometer recorded the wind at 40 miles per hour, with gusts to 50 and 58 miles, and the maximum of 61 miles was reached a little after 2 o'clock. One of the 50-mile gusts occurred at 9.20 a.m., and 54 miles at 10.53 a.m., the direction being W.N.W. By 5 p.m. the wind had greatly moderated."

HOW THE GALE WAS FELT IN THE CITY.

Had rain continued with the change yesterday everybody would have been prepared to hear that it was the wettest and coldest day of the year. As it was, many people were heard to say that it was colder than they had known it, as some nautical men said the wind was the strongest. A reference to the records at the Observatory shows that on the grass the thermometers on the Observatory grounds recorded 43°, or 13° higher than on Saturday morning last. Last night the temperature was 49·8, but to pedestrians it felt more like at freezing-point. It felt bitterly cold, indeed, all day. In the high levels, roofs of buildings in course of construction were torn off like gingerbread, and frail structures, unsupported or uncovered walls were damaged in many parts of the metropolis. Work was suspended at a number of buildings, it being too dangerous to the workmen.

WHERE THE STORM CAME FROM.

"There was nothing of this to be seen on Saturday," Mr. Russell remarked. "It came at a great pace across from the westward, and in 18 hours the barometers fell half an inch—a most unusual thing here. Thunder and lightning accompanied the first of the change, and strong lightning was to seen to the southward of Sydney."

HOW THE R.M.S. ARCADIA WAS DELAYED.

For five hours and 20 minutes the powerful P. and O. liner Arcadia, a mail steamer of 6000 tons, and capable of steaming 17½ knots per hour, lay helpless at the wharf. She was timed to leave there for London at noon. Two full-powered tugs of the Port Jackson Company—the Irresistible and the Commodore—took hold of her, passengers said good-bye to their friends, and the usual "send off" was given, but the steamer didn't go, nor for some hours later. In her exposed position—beam on to the gale—it was impossible to take her out broadside to the wind. The tugs caught hold of her by the port quarter, and hauled her off a bit. The ship's winch was then started on the 45 fathoms of cable on the port-bow anchor; but the strain proved too good for the holding ground, and the anchor "came home." After that no attempt was made until the gale moderated, and the Arcadia was towed off stern first by the same two tugs, and got under weigh, clearing the Heads about 6 p.m. "This is the first instance I remember of a mail steamer being delayed here," said Captain Crosson of the Irresistible, and he was borne out by Captain Williams, who remarked, "We have had nothing like it, at all events for 11 years, to my knowledge." There was no sea where the Arcadia lay; it was sheer pressure of wind on her 500ft. of side exposed to its force.

THE SCENE IN THE HARBOUR.

It being such a bright, cl be in favour of a land tax. (Cheers.) It was the greatest absurdity of protectionists to discount their cause by setting themselves against legitimate measures of direct taxation. How could property bear its share of burden without a direct tax? Some people objected that land was low in the market, and it was a bad time to tax it. He replied that that labour was also low in the market, and it was a bad time to tax it. (Loud cheers.) So he would take the burdens off the shoulders of labour and put them on the landed proprietors. (Renewed cheering.) Here was a great audience present representing all classes, and he asked those in favour of his view of putting some of the burdens of the people on land and property to hold up their hands. (Almost every hand in the hall was raised amid cheers.) Apparently those opposed to him had not got hands. (Laughter.) In speaking of the workers. He did not discriminate between those who worked with their hands and those who worked with their heads. He said that there were thousands in the colony who had to support families on incomes which only enabled them to live from hand to mouth. It was an iniquity that these people should be taxed on the necessaries of life while wealth went scotfree. (Cheers, and a Voice: "What are you going to do with the labour party?") The labour party would look out for itself, and he was glad to be able to say that during this crisis it had declined to fall into the arms of either Sir George Dibbs or Sir Henry Parkes. (Loud cheering.) What was the meaning of that wonderreconciliation? (A Voice: "You would stand squeezing and they would not.") Whoever saw a better pair of squeezers than Sir Henry Parkes and Sir George Dibbs when they consented to this loving alliance? (Laughter and cheers.) Apparently they thought he (Mr. Reid) would only be in office a short time, and then they would get back; but the Government had been getting stronger and stronger, and that was the only reason why they combining their forces. The moment they joined together they paid him a magnificent compliment. They intended to ruin him politically, but in reality they placed him on a pedestal. What did this mean? It meant that the people in this country had too long been made the playthings of these venerable politicians—(cheers)—and that they had got tired of worshipping these great men who did nothing but promise, and always left office with things in a worse position than before. (A Voice: "Like you will.") He was glad to say that already the tide of progressive legislation was setting in. The Government had already brought in a measure which placed things on a more equitable footing. This was why the Government received such strong support, because the people saw that they were anxious to spread all the benefits they could, not for one class or industry, but for every industry. It was because they were determined to spread light railways throughout the length and breadth of the land, and because they were determined to give the districts in the interior a better system of water conservation. He instanced the weir on the Macquarie River, which would give 1100 miles of water frontage. These and similar works were more important to the interior of the colony than any political policies in the world. (Cheers.) This great battle of the future was not to be fought out in supplying our own wants, but in taking our position as a great producing and exporting country. (Cheers.) He believed colonial industry to be the industry of every man and every class. He did not see the necessity of saying more about the fiscal policy, because protection was stone dead. (Cheers.) Now had practically always been freetrade, and he had a taste of the Dibbs tariff, and it was determined it should be no more of it. Nothing was more sure than that these duties would come off. (A Voice: "When?") He proposed that the last shred should expire on the 30th September next, but some people might raise an objection and say, what about the Upper House? He could only believe that the gentlemen of the Council would act as they had done before—that was, in a thoroughly constitutional manner, which had been always to pass the Customs Bill. No Legislative Council in New South Wales had ever rejected one. The majority of the members of the Upper House had always admitted that money bills were matters which practically belonged to the representatives of the people. In 1891 they passed a Bill imposing hundreds of thousands of pounds taxation in the face of petitions against it, and it was clearly a bill sent up without the authority of the electors. Believing that the Council would act as fairly to this Government as others, he did not think it could refuse to pass the present Customs Bill. If they did not pass it, in view of the verdict of the country, there would be a constitutional crisis in this country the end of which no man could see. The central principle of the Constitution, although not found in the Constitution, was that in all matters affecting moneys and taxes and expenditure no man but those who represented the people had the right to shape the country's policy. (Loud cheers.) There never should be a time in this colony while the country held the position when the rights of the people for taxation of the people would be surrendered to the Legislative Council. (Cheers.) Another reason why the Customs Bill would pass the Upper House was because they had made no secret of the fact that the affairs of the country could be administered for a million less than now. If so, the Council was bound to take these Dibbs duties off, because there would still be £150,000 left for the Government on its own financial statement. He had therefore every right to believe that the bill would receive the assent of the Council. As to other matters of taxation, just as the repeal of the Dibbs tariff was demanded by the people, so was the imposition of the land tax demanded. (Mr. Macdonald, M.L.A.: "Only more so.") If ever there was a demand for a land tax, it was at the last election. (A voice: "You opposed it under the Local Government Bill.") He had never opposed a land tax in his life. There never was a tax in the country that cost the public Treasury more than the land, but he was not in favour of an unfair tax. (A voice: "Don't sell any more land.") The Government was carrying out that principle. Those who had big freeholds of land had been sending round circulars to small holders showing how the small man would be ruined by the tax. (Laughter.) He (Mr. Reid) felt so much impressed by those stories that he had made an exemption up to £475, so that the poorest holder of land should not pay a rent. (Cheers.) He had also provided that the free selectors should not pay on the unpaid balances. This land tax was not a fresh tax. It was one to replace a larger amount taken off the public shoulders. (Cheers.) That he had every reason to be sanguine that the Upper House, paying regard to the will of the electors, and recognising the rights of the Assembly to mould the taxation of the country, would give effect to these principles when they were sent up to it. He did not desire to say anything of a threatening nature about the Council; but he felt that they were in a very serious crisis in the history of the country. These two Chambers had not been working very well of late. Several measures which had been unquestionably called for by the people had met with an ignominious and untimely end upstairs. He did not question the Council's intentions or purity of motives, but it was surely an unsatisfactory state of things that this should be the case. Tired of all these wasted sessions, the Local Government Bill, designed to safeguard the lives of sailors on vessels not running in the passenger trade. Surely the mercantile marine deserved to have their lives protected as much as those on passenger vessels. It was an immense Act. It also provided for the abolition of pilotage charges to one-half; but the bill was thrown out because there was a shipping gentleman named Mr. Alexander Brown in the Council, who made an impassioned speech against it, and carried the Upper House with him, members forgetting that he represented an interested class. Why was the bill thrown out? In Sydney there was a Marine Board, and Mr. Bruce Smith drew up a measure providing that representation on the board should not be confined solely to the shipowners, but to merchants, underwriters, sailors, engineers, captains, and officers. Was that a very radical proposal? Sailors would only have a twosevenths voting power on the board, while the other classes would have five-sevenths; and yet the Council threw out the bill without an attempt to amend it, and in that respect it made a serious blunder. (Hear, hear.) There was an absence of a proper safeguard, and the main object of the bill was to see this provided for. He was not going to let the matter rest. If he could not come to an agreement it would be his duty to recommend the Governor to appoint a Royal Commission to thoroughly examine into the whole working of the coal mines in the country. (Cheers.) Then, as to the Coal Mines Bill. It had been bandied about for a long time, and even now they were trying to get it passed into law. He had hoped that the Council would meet the Assembly in a friendly spirit, but he was determined to see the thing settled somehow. There were thousands of human beings in our mines whose lives were imperilled. We could not have the two Houses fighting together over this matter, and if we could not get a proper settlement he was determined that the question would be thoroughly sifted from top to bottom in order that we might get at the truth. (Cheers.) Another bill had been sent up, namely, the Trades Disputes Amendment Bill. This was a very difficult subject to deal with, and the Government thought it would be well to have a compulsory investigation as to the merits of a dispute, but this bill was ignominiously thrown out; and only the other day a bill to prevent the spread of disease in vineyards met with a similar fate, and this was a measure to which all who were interested agreed. This state of things was highly unsatisfactory. (A Voice: "Make an elective Upper House.") He did not know that that would do. It would be far more difficult to deal with. But there must be some change. The Legislative Assembly had been lately remodelled on the new franchise. Now that this part of the Constitution was reformed, if a change were to take place in order to make the machinery work more smoothly and satisfactorily, it stood to reason that the Legislative Council must undergo an alteration now. (A Voice: "Abolish it.") He did not say so. He wanted to see a check on the people's representatives; but it ought not to be a check constituted in this way, that gentlemen appointed to the Upper Chamber remained members to the end of their lives, whether they attended or not, and whether they were fitted for the work or otherwise. (A Voice: "You cannot alter it.") Let no man say that the people could not alter their Constitution. (Loud cheers.) The advantage of a change in this respect would be that members fitted for legislative work would retain their seats, and incompetent and old men would drop out. There should also be a provision for finality, so that when a bill had passed the Assembly twice in two consecutive sessions, if the two Houses could not come to an understanding by means of friendly conference, either the two Houses should sit together, or the Assembly should sit again by itself, and what it did should become the law of the land. Whatever happened in future he did not think the people would allow vital matters to be handled about between two Houses as of old. There must be one method of working the two Chambers together. Referring to Sir Henry Parkes, whose name was mentioned in an interjection, he said it was a crying shame that the question of federation should be dragged down to the level of insignificance, as was now the case with Sir Henry Parkes and his followers. The question ought to be kept out of the hurly-burly of local politics and party strife. He noticed that at a recent meeting at the Australia Hotel, Mr. Clark, Attorney-General of Tasmania, with very questionable taste, attended, in face of the fact that his Government and the New South Wales Government was on friendly terms of negotiation in this matter. That gentleman, moreover, had made a most uncalled-for observation in trying to fasten upon him (Mr. Reid) a breach of faith in not having brought the Federation Bill before the Assembly earlier. Surely he ought to have been aware that in the intercolonial agreement he (Mr. Reid) distinctly refused to insert the word "forthwith" in favour of "as soon as possible." He was not going to deceive other Governments as they had been deceived in the past, and told them plainly that there were urgent matters that had to be dealt with before he could take up the question of federation.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Reid was enthusiastically cheered. He moved a vote of thanks to the chairman and to Mr. Newman, M.L.A., who replied. The Premier then asked all those present who favoured freetrade and direct taxation to hold up their hands. Quite a forest of hands shot up all round. Then he asked those in favour of protection to vote, and only about a score or 30 hands were raised in response. This result was received with loud and prolonged cheering. At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Reid and party were entertained at a banquet in another room in the same hall. There was a large attendance in spite of the bad weather. The Mayor presided, and a long list of toasts was got through. Shortly after midnight the party left by special train for Sydney. Thousands of people gave the Premier hearty cheers as the train left the platform. He expresses himself as delighted with his trip.

THE CREMORNE BORE.

A meeting was held in the Mosman Councilchamber last evening on the subject of the application of Mr. T. S. Huntley for the surface rights, &c., at Cremorne Point. The Mayor of Mosman (Alderman Bibbian) presided, and the mover of the first resolution, Mr. J. Barre Johnston, said that he understood Mr. Huntley, who represented an English syndicate who had secured the right to mine under the harbour, had applied to the Departments of Mines and Lands to get certain land at Cremorne, which included the 100ft. reservation. This meant the monopoly of the water frontage from Sutherland-street on the Neutral Bay side to Mosman's on the other side, an area of about 20 acres. For this he (Johnston) was asked to pay on a 15 years' lease £5 per acre, or £5 per annum. The effect on their beautiful and growing suburb would be that those who had paid a high price for land and houses in the belief that the Government reserve was secure from the lands of the squatter would suffer. The general effect would be to enhance the value of the syndicate's property. They would benefit none but themselves, and this was manifestly unfair. He thanked God they had pure government. If the application were granted Mr. Huntley would prove the ruin of Mosman and North Shore. Mr. T. S. Huntley, having asked permission to address the meeting, said the application had been made in the proper way, but not for the 100ft. reservation from Sutherland-street. Here he would refer to a point of order, but the voice of the meeting having been taken, Mr. Huntley was permitted to proceed. Mr. Huntley, continuing, said that the work would give about £15,000 a year to the Crown, and they would employ 1000 persons, and at least 500 persons would be employed in the initial work. The company had the option of a site between Little Sirius Cove and Athol Gardens. The company had a right to go to the Government, and he thought the Government should assist them to get the coal. (Cries of "No, no.") Mr. Johnston then moved the following resolution:—"That in view of an application having been made to purchase for coal mining and shipping purposes a portion of the Government reservation at Cremorne, this meeting is of opinion that no action can in reason protest against the granting of such application and against any alienation of the reservation calculated to interfere with its use by the public." Mr. Dugald Thomson, M.L.A., having spoken, and the Mayor also having vacated the chair to speak himself, he spoke in deprecatory terms of the application. Mr. Wilshire moved.—"That this meeting also strongly protests against the coal mining and shipping being permitted at Cremorne, Mosman's Bay, and Sirius Cove, or any of the foreshores of this borough, as it would most seriously injure the district as a residential suburb and deface the natural beauties of the borough of Mosman, would be a disfigurement to the harbour generally, and cannot be supported on the ground of necessity, as the coal measures can be reached from more secluded and less peopled shores, equally available for shipping. That a copy of this foregoing resolutions be forwarded to the Ministers for Lands and Mines." All the resolutions were carried.

THEOSOPHY AND THE MAHATMAS.

The second of the winter course of lectures, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, was delivered last night, by the Rev. John Fordyce, M.A., in the large hall of the Association. There was a good attendance. The Primate, vice-president of the Y.M.C.A., occupied the chair. Mr. Fordyce, who had an excellent reception, said he did not claim to have any esoteric knowledge of the subject, but spoke simply as a seeker after truth. The word Theosophy was first used by the Neo-Platonists. In recent times Blavatsky used it very much as the word Theology is employed. But they were chiefly concerned in more recent developments. According to Mrs. Besant this wisdom had been handed down from Hippos and others, who received it at first from Mahatmas. He asked, Were there Mahatmas? He did not believe there were. It was asserted there were, but they had not seen them. The way pictures of Englishmen were not allowed to travel, and, so far as the East was concerned, these "brothers" seemed to do little for either learning or for the welfare of the people. As Carlyle said, they seemed to do nothing. If people wanted to understand the subject, they must go west to Oxford, not to Thibet. But the appeal was to authority. Some few men and women, among them Mdme. Blavatsky and Mrs. Besant, said they had seen Mahatmas, and that those august persons had commissioned them to preach the Wisdom religion to the world. Naturally they asked if these witnesses were deserving of confidence. As to Mdme. Blavatsky, the more they inquired the more they were puzzled. She said she had spent seven years in Thibet, but she had not been there all the time. The Society for Psychical Research, after elaborate research, came to the conclusion that she was "one of the most accomplished, ingenious and interesting impostors in history." Mrs. Besant, though doubtless sincere and anxious to do right, was hardly one whose judgment could be regarded as sound. She had been Low Churchwoman, High Churchwoman, sceptic, atheist, materialist, Neo-Malthusian, and now was Theosophist. Her conversion to Theosophy without feeling that she was anything but a safe guide. And recently she had confessed that she had been tricked by Mr. Judge, and that the Mahatma messages she supposed she had received were forgeries. There was no such unity as she alleged among all religions. Take Buddhism and Christianity, for example. They were opposites. The lecturer closed by contrasting Theosophy with Christianity. Would Christians ever dream of leaving the Divine Master, the goodly fellowship of the prophets, the apostles of Jesus, and the saints of Christianity for Mdme. Blavatsky? It seemed almost blasphemy to join together names that represented such ethics and spiritual opposites.

A vote of thanks to the lecturer was proposed by the Bishop of Newcastle, seconded by the Rev. C. J. Prescott, and carried by acclamation. A similar compliment was paid to the chairman, and the proceedings closed.

PROPOSED RECEPTION TO MR. DAVITT.

A meeting of the committee appointed to make arrangements for the public reception of Mr. Michael Davitt upon his arrival in Sydney was held at the Hotel Australia last evening. Mr. F. B. Freehill read a letter which he had received from Mr. Davitt, in the course of which he said that he expected to reach Sydney on the 13th July. He proposed remaining in New South Wales until the 15th August; that was, if he was required in the colony for all that time. Omitting the Saturdays and Sundays as necessary days of rest, this would represent 24 days, which would be available for lecturing within the two dates mentioned, but he was of opinion that the invitations would not equal this number of days. He was very anxious to reach Ireland before the end of the year. Now that he was fixed to reach Sydney on the 13th of July, and to remain until the 15th August, the committee could "distribute" him over New South Wales in such a way as would accommodate him and railway travelling. The subjects of his lectures in New South Wales would be:—1, "Glimpses of Ancient Ireland;" 2, "Ireland in Westminster;" 3, "Parliamentary Photographs;" 4, "The Labour Movement in Great Britain;" 5, "Impressions on a Pilgrimage from Ballybrack to Jericho."

A number of replies were received from societies willing to participate in the demonstration, and a quantity of routine business was transacted.

SYDNEY INDUSTRIAL BLIND INSTITUTION.

The monthly meeting of the committee of the above institution was held in the boardroom on the 7th instant, there being present Dr. Chisholm, Mr. Blacket, Mr. Keep, and Mr. Sinclaire. Accounts amounting to £134 17s 10d were passed for payment. The house committee reported having visited the institution during May, and finding all matters going on satisfactorily. The manager reported having had to the partition round the gas engine and the railing round the machinery completed so as to prevent any accident happening to the blind. A new application form was adopted for future use. In response to letters from the Blind Institutions of Adelaide and Auckland re purchase of matting-weaving loom, the manager was instructed to forward one to each institution free of charge.

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—MONDAY, JUNE 10.

No. 1 Jury Court.—(Before the CHIEF JUSTICE and a jury of four.)

JEWELL AND ANOTHER V. NORTH CHINA INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED (PART HEARD).

Mr. O'Connor and Mr. G. R. Campbell, instructed by Messrs. Creagh and Williams, appeared for the plaintiffs; and the Attorney-General (Mr. Want, Q.C.) and Dr. Sly, instructed by Messrs. Sly and Russell, for the defendant company. This was an action brought by Sydney Herbert Jewell and Edward Davis, merchants and importers, trading as Jewell, Davis, and Co., of Sydney, against the North China Insurance Company, Limited, to recover the sum of £249 18s 3d, being the amount of the proportion of average loss sustained by the plaintiffs on a shipment of 75 cases of bedsteads per ship Ivanhoe, the damage upon which was covered by a policy taken out in the office of the defendant company. It appeared that the goods in question arrived in the Ivanhoe in January last year, and it having been ascertained that a certain quantity of the consignment was damaged a survey was held on behalf of the plaintiffs and the insurance company. Forty-one of the cases were found to be damaged, and on the 10th January they were sold at auction as damaged, and with all risks, and brought £381 15s, and what plaintiffs were now claiming was the proportion of particular average which they were entitled to call upon the defendant company to pay between their estimate of the sound value and the price realised as damaged goods. The defendants paid into court the sum of £126 11s 4d as being sufficient to meet the plaintiffs' claim, and pleaded never indebted as to the remainder.

R. R. Grayston, being further cross-examined by Mr. O'Connor, said that from January, 1894, onward the tendency of the market for bedsteads of the description in question was to go down owing to the quantity of second-hand goods put on the market; he was not aware that the bulk of the sales of damaged bedsteads took place in August, 1893; on the 13th September, 1893, he valued "D 749" bedsteads, ex Rodney, at 38s, and in January, 1894, at 30s.

James Plummer, examined by Dr. Sly, said he was a member of the firm of Plummer and Owen, ironmongers, of Sydney, and that he knew Greening and Fardon's bedsteads; in January, 1894, the market for bedsteads was glutted, owing to there being a larger supply than there was a demand for; he could buy cheaper in the local market than he could import; and he could not sell except at a great loss; he bought Greening and Fardon's bedsteads in October, 1893, from samples he saw at the Grafton Wharf; the sample he saw was in good condition; the goods were sold at Harris and Ackman's, where he saw another sample. Both samples were in good condition, as ordinary bedsteads drive. He gave a good price for them. For 11 cases "3384" at 34s sound; on the same day he sold two cases to the same purchaser—W. W. Campbell—for 34s. On the 7th June he sold seven cases to Campbell, two cases of the lot "3379" at 30s, and five cases at 34s, three cases of "D 749" at 30s. In his opinion, the market value of these bedsteads in January, 1894, was as follows:—"D 379," 31s to 35s. On all the prices he had given there was 2½ per cent. discount. "D 749" he valued at 30s. "D 846," 30s. and "3384," 34s.

By Mr. O'Connor: His bedstead trade was the usual one for a wholesale ironmonger, and, of course, he did not do the business of Hordern and Company or Hoffnung and Company; he bought the bedsteads with all faults, but he had first seen the samples at the Grafton Wharf and at Harris and Ackman's. In August, 1894, the market became a little better as the auction sales had stopped. At that time 50 persons would be employed in the initial work. The company had the option of a site between Little Sirius Cove and Athol Gardens. The company had a right to go to the Government, and he thought the Government should assist them to get the coal. (Cries of "No, no.") Mr. Johnston then moved the following resolution:—"That in view of an application having been made to purchase for coal mining and shipping purposes a portion of the Government reservation at Cremorne, this meeting is of opinion that no action can in reason protest against the granting of such application and against any alienation of the reservation calculated to interfere with its use by the public." Mr. Dugald Thomson, M.L.A., having spoken, and the Mayor also having vacated the chair to speak himself, he spoke in deprecatory terms of the application. Mr. Wilshire moved.—"That this meeting also strongly protests against the coal mining and shipping being permitted at Cremorne, Mosman's Bay, and Sirius Cove, or any of the foreshores of this borough, as it would most seriously injure the district as a residential suburb and deface the natural beauties of the borough of Mosman, would be a disfigurement to the harbour generally, and cannot be supported on the ground of necessity, as the coal measures can be reached from more secluded and less peopled shores, equally available for shipping. That a copy of this foregoing resolutions be forwarded to the Ministers for Lands and Mines." All the resolutions were carried.

THEOSOPHY AND THE MAHATMAS.

The second of the winter course of lectures, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, was delivered last night, by the Rev. John Fordyce, M.A., in the large hall of the Association. There was a good attendance. The Primate, vice-president of the Y.M.C.A., occupied the chair. Mr. Fordyce, who had an excellent reception, said he did not claim to have any esoteric knowledge of the subject, but spoke simply as a seeker after truth. The word Theosophy was first used by the Neo-Platonists. In recent times Blackel used it very much as the word Theology is employed. But they were chiefly concerned in more recent developments. According to Mrs. Besant this wisdom had been handed down from Hippos and others, who received it at first from Mahatmas. He asked, Were there Mahatmas? He did not believe there were. It was asserted there were, but they had not seen them. The way pictures of Englishmen were not allowed to travel, and, so far as the East was concerned, these "brothers" seemed to do little for either learning or for the welfare of the people. As Carlyle said, they seemed to do nothing. If people wanted to understand the subject, they must go west to Oxford, not to Thibet. But the appeal was to authority. Some few men and women, among them Mdme. Blavatsky and Mrs. Besant, said they had seen Mahatmas, and that those august persons had commissioned them to preach the Wisdom religion to the world. Naturally they asked if these witnesses were deserving of confidence. As to Mdme. Blavatsky, the more they inquired the more they were puzzled. She said she had spent seven years in Thibet, but she had not been there all the time. The Society for Psychical Research, after elaborate research, came to the conclusion that she was "one of the most accomplished, ingenious and interesting impostors in history." Mrs. Besant, though doubtless sincere and anxious to do right, was hardly one whose judgment could be regarded as sound. She had been Low Churchwoman, High Churchwoman, sceptic, atheist, materialist, Neo-Malthusian, and now was Theosophist. Her conversion to Theosophy without feeling that she was anything but a safe guide. And recently she had confessed that she had been tricked by Mr. Judge, and that the Mahatma messages she supposed she had received were forgeries. There was no such unity as she alleged among all religions. Take Buddhism and Christianity, for example. They were opposites. The lecturer closed by

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

MONDAY EVENING.

There was a fairly buoyant market on the Stock Exchange to-day, though this was consequent on the demand for silver rather than for investment shares. Government securities continue in request, at full prices. In banks New South Wales were quitted at about the prices current at the close of last week. For City Bank a higher price was offered. Deposits of the reconstructed banks were inquired for, Commercial of Sydney being sold at par. Steam shares were strong with a rising tendency, Newcastle and Hunter River being sold at an advance of 1s, and for North Coast a rise of 5d was offered. United and City Mutual Fire Insurance shares were 6d and 2d higher respectively. Australian Gaslight were dealt in at the last quoted price, and City of Goulburn brought an advance of 1s. Brewery shares were firm, Tooth's being up 3d, and closing with buyers at the higher price. Mont de Piété were 3d dearer. Silverton Trams could be had under the last quoted price.

* Due 1st November, 1895. † With three months' interest.

It is not improbable that the recommendations of the Bankers' Conference will be submitted to the Premier without delay. Considerable shipments of gold for London continue to be made, the Arcadia (s.) to-day taking £65,070, of which £40,070 was shipped by the Bank of New South Wales and £25,000 by the London Bank of Australia.

Twoitems of more than ordinary interest appeared in our commercial cables recently. It will be remembered that the first shipment of chilled meat from Australia to England was a failure, or, at the most, only a partial success, the machinery having broken down. It seems that the Gothic (s.) on the way from New Zealand to London with another shipment, has arrived so far on the way as Tenerife, the last being in excellent condition. There ought to be no climatic conditions, at any rate, to prevent the shipment arriving in the best state possible. Then, the safe arrival in London of sheep by the Woolcomodoo, and their sale at from 33s to 40s each, gives further evidence of the possibility of the carriage of live stock. Although neither the safe carriage of chilled meat nor of live stock in these instances demonstrates conclusively all the conditions necessary to the success of the trade, they are encouraging evidences towards the possibility of its establishment.

The report of the Intercolonial Investment, Land, and Building Company for the half-year ended 30th April, shows that the business had resulted in an increase in the credit balance from £2196 to £3072, which the directors proposed to carry forward. In view of the difficulty in disposing of property, and the tendency of values to depreciate, the directors did not feel justified in declaring a dividend. The liabilities had been reduced to £25,899. Shareholders' capital amounted to £33,500. The properties were taken in the balance-sheet at less than cost price, and on this basis the assets were valued at £68,781.

IMPORT MARKET.

The despatch of the Suez and San Francisco mails kept merchants pretty busy with their correspondence to-day, and the bleak and inclement weather was not favourable for business. A very notable movement took place in bran, feed grains, and other descriptions of fodder, owing to increasing demand and short supplies. The prolonged drought in some districts is making itself felt more smartly in this market, and speculators who recently purchased heavily at the low prices then ruling are likely to make money. Brankags had a strong market, all offering at 3s 4d having been taken up. Some holders are now asking 3s 5d. Cornsacks were steady at prices recently current. Calcutta cable advices report a strong market for prompt or early shipment, so that prices are not likely to recede in the immediate future. Quicksilver also was firmer. Some sales were made on Saturday and to-day at 2s 3d, but this could not now be repeated. 2s 4d being now asked. A large parcel of English jams was placed on private terms. Kerosene showed little change. It was stated, however, that some large holders had withdrawn from the market, having decided to store their oil in preference to forcing sales.

Business in sugar was mainly confined to the Colonial Sugar Refining Company's makes at their regular tariff. A small parcel of Say's tablet sugar was sold at £33.

The following sales of dried fruits and general groceries were noted:—One tank Colman's ½lb. mustard; trade parcels DRJ candles, 6¼d; 100 boxes Swinborne's gelatine; trade parcels Taylor Brothers' jam, 5s 11lb. tins, and jars 6s 6d and 9s; 100 boxes Colman's packet starch, and 100 boxes ditto, 1lb., at £34 10s and £39 10s respectively.

Messrs Harris and Ackman announce by advertisement elsewhere that they will hold their usual weekly sale of groceries, &c., at their rooms to-morrow (Tuesday) morning, at 11.

Hennessy's brandy was unchanged at 34s 6d and 47s for one-star and three-star respectively. Lowndes's rum had some attention, 10 quarter-casks being taken for export at 2s 7d. Geneva was quiet, but some small business was done in JDKZ at 11s 6d. A sale of 50 cases Gilbey's gin was made for export. Some inquiry was noted for good medium port wine. Usher's SR whisky is still scarce on the spot. Sales were reported of John Jameson's bulk and case whisky, Williams's (bulk) ditto, Brown's 4-Crown, and Provost ditto (to land), Silverstream schnapps, Burke's stout, and Foster's ale.

Quotations of kerosene, for immediate delivery, were unaltered at about 1s 3d to 1s 3½d, duty paid. Other oils were quiet. For 300 drums Blundell and Spence's linseed oil, 2s 4½d and 2s 6½d was paid.

Business in jute goods was rather quiet. A parcel of 14 bales of bran bags was sold at 3s 6d, but it is questionable if this could be repeated. Cornsacks were quoted at 4s 3d. Woolpacks were without alteration.

For a truckload of No. 10 fencing wire £7 5s was paid, and for trade parcels of No. 8 £7. Other sales of hardware, &c., included 2 tons galvanised hoopiron, £14 10s; 120 boxes I. C. coke tinplates, 12s 6d; 100 casks tested cement, 12s; 10 bottles quicksilver, to arrive Damascus, on private terms, sales totalling 15 bottles, spot, at 2s 3d; 20,000ft. Baltic 3in., 8s 6d; 20,000ft. weatherboards, 5s.

The Customs revenue received at Sydney to-day amounted to £1560. The principal items were:—

Spirits, £1811; wine, still, £21; wine, sparkling, £16; ale, porter, and beer, in wood, £12; tobacco and snuff, £341; tobacco, unmanufactured, £11; cocoa, £103; cigarettes, £75; sugar, refined, £11; sugar, unrefined, £29; tea, £19; dried fruits, £43; Spanish dutiable, £7; currants, £60; cocoa and chocolate, £23; fish, dried, preserved, or salt, £32; fruits, green, £25; glucose, solid, £21; methylated spirit, £11; oil, kerosene, £270; oils, other, £41; potatoes, £42; powder blasting, £20; tinctures over 75 per cent., £27. Ad valorem—10 per cent., £569; 15 per cent., £49. Harbour and light rates, £20. Pilotage—Sydney, £10. Excise on tobacco, £500; excise on beer, £10. Repack, £14. Total, £4561.

EXPORT MARKET.

At Darling Harbour to-day 51 bales of wool were manifested, 41 arrived coastwise at Sydney, and 16 bales were received by rail at Newcastle on Saturday.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.—MONDAY.

TRADE IN SUSSEX-STREET.

Business in the produce trade along the wharfs to-day was somewhat retarded, owing to the unsettled state of the weather. Values generally were firmer, but buyers were very cautious before operating. Supplies from the Northern rivers were fairly heavy, and a slight improvement can be reported in the deliveries by rail. In the feed-grains market maize was firmer and quotations irregular. Holders were asking an advance of 1d per bushel. In the morning sales were made at late rates, but towards noon holders were not prepared to quit prime river maize under 2s 9d per bushel. At auction the best price bid was 2s 7½d for good mixed samples. Oats were firmer, but not much business was passing. Broken wheat sold at auction at 2s 9d to 2s 10d per bushel. Holders of bran and pollard advanced the price 1d per bushel. The available supply of chaff on the market is very light, and values remain without quotable change. Lucerne hay met with good demand at late rates. Business in potatoes was quiet; the majority of buyers were holding off for the fresh supplies due to arrive by the Norkoowa (s.). In dairy products a fairly brisk business was passing. Eggs were rather slow, and the bulk was selling at 1s 2d per dozen. Agents advanced the price of butter to-day 2d per lb. Creamery was quoted at 1s 3d to 1s 3½d, and factory 1s 2d to 1s 3d per lb. Melbourne creamery sold to arrive at 1s 4d per lb. Poultry was plentiful and hard to quit at low prices.

FRUIT MARKETS.

Business in the fruit trade at the Redfern-street markets this morning was rather quiet. The Omeo (s.) arrived with 2500 cases of apples, and 600 cases are expected to arrive by the Tamba. Apples met with good inquiry, and late prices were well maintained. Owing to the scarcity of oranges, and being placed on the early market, oranges were rather hard to quit, and agents found difficulty in realising late prices. In consequence a fair amount of bananas were passing at late rates. Lemons were dull at from 4s to 6s per gin-case. No fresh passion fruit was forward this morning, so that prices remain without quotable change. The Tasmanian (s.) and Wentworth arrive here to-day with fresh shipments of bananas. The banana market is heavily supplied, and prices quoted ranged from 6d to 9d per bunch, but only a few parcels were made at 3s to 3s per half-case. Loquats were 6d per case firmer.
